LAW INSTITUTION.

THE PLAN of this Institution originated with some individuals in the Profession, desirous of increasing its respectability; and promoting the general convenience and advantage of its Members.

It appeared to them singular, that whilst the various public bodies, companies, and commercial and trading classes in the Metropolis, and indeed in many of the principal towns in the kingdom, have long possessed places of general resort, for the more convenient transaction of their business; and while numerous Institutions for promoting Literature and Science amongst all ranks and conditions of society, have been long established, and others are daily springing up, the Attorneys and Solicitors should still be without an Establishment in London, calculated to afford them similar advantages; more particularly when the Halls and Libraries of the Inns of Court, the Clubs of Barristers, Special Pleaders, and Conveyancers, the Library of the Writers to the Signet at Edinburgh, and the Association of Attorneys in Dublin, furnish a strong presumption of the advantages which would probably result from an Establishment of a similar description for Attorneys in London.

An outline of the scheme was, in the first instance, circulated by the individuals already alluded to, amongst their own particular friends, by whom it was so favourably received that by private application alone, and when it was proposed that no person should take more than two shares, a sum of 8000*l.* and upwards was offered to be subscribed by about 220 professional gentlemen living in London. After such an unequivocal proof of approbation, measures were adopted for submitting the Plan to the Profession at large, and with this view the following Proceedings have taken place.

On the 29th of March last, a Meeting of the promoters of the plan was held, at which the subject was discussed and referred to a Committee, who made their report ; and at a General Meeting, held at Furnival's Inn Hall, on Thursday the 2d day of June 1825,

RICHARD WHITE, Esq. in the Chair :

IT WAS RESOLVED,

- I. THAT a Society be established, to be called THE LAW INSTITUTION, composed of Attorneys, Solicitors, and Proctors in the United Kingdom, and Writers to the Signet, and Writers to the Courts in Scotland, and of Gentlemen who may have voluntarily retired from the Profession.
- II. That a convenient freehold piece of ground, in a central situation in the vicinity of the Inns of Court, be purchased, and a suitable Building be erected thereon, containing a large room or hall for daily resort, a library, fire-proof muniment rooms, and such other apartments as the Committee of Management shall think requisite, for the use of the Proprietors and Subscribers.
- III. That for these and other purposes of the Institution, a fund of 50,000*l.* be raised by 2,000 shares of 25*l.* each ; and that all the persons for whom this Institution is designed, whether residing within the Bills of Mortality or not, be admissible, under the control of the Committee of Management ; and that no individual be permitted to hold more than twenty shares.
- IV. That the annual expense of the Institution, as well as interest for the money raised, be provided for by yearly subscriptions, and by the rent of such part of the building as may be let, under the control of the Committee of Management.
- V. That the building, and other property belonging to the Institution, shall be vested in Trustees for the Proprietors, in the nature of personal estate.

VI. That the preparing a proper deed of settlement, the distribution of the shares, the receipt and expenditure of the money subscribed, the purchase of a convenient site, the erection and fitting up of the building, the purchase of the library, together with the forming of necessary rules and regulations, the appointment of officers and servants, and the general management of all the concerns of the Institution, be confided with full powers to the Committee of Management, consisting of twenty-four Proprietors of not less than ten shares each.

VII. That the following gentlemen be the Committee of Management, of whom five shall be a quorum :

MR. ADLINGTON	MR. LAWFORD
— AMORY	— W. LOWE
— BRUNDRETT	— MARTINEAU
— T. FARRER	— T. METCALFE
— J. FORSTER	— S. RICHARDS
— E. FOSS	— J. F. SCOTT
— FRERE	— SEYMOUR
— FRESHFIELD	— SPENCE
— JAMES HALL	— TOOKE
— R. HARRISON	— VIZARD
— HOLME	— R. WHITE (Essex Street)
— HUNDLEBY	— WOODHOUSE.

VIII. That such first Committee shall continue in office for the space of three years from the date of the deed of settlement, during which period, vacancies by death, incapacity, or resignation, shall be filled up by the remaining Members of the Committee.

IX. That after the expiration of such three years, six of the Committee shall go out annually, and be replaced by an equal number, to be elected by the Proprietors.

X. That three Auditors be annually appointed to examine and pass the accounts of this Institution; and that Mr. ATCHESON, Mr. GREEN, and Mr. SWEET, be the Auditors for the year ensuing.

- XI. That an annual meeting of the Proprietors take place, at which, in addition to the yearly elections, a statement of the affairs of the Institution shall be made by the Committee, and other necessary business of the Institution transacted.
- XII. That the cordial thanks of this Meeting be given to the Committee, for their services in promoting the formation of this Institution.
- XIII. That the cordial thanks of this Meeting are due, and hereby given to Mr. WHITE, for his able and impartial conduct in the chair.
- XIV. That the resolutions adopted by this Meeting be printed, and circulated for the information of the Profession, under the direction of the Committee of Management.

THE DETAILS OF THE INSTITUTION cannot be finally settled until they have been more maturely considered, and the extent of the funds ascertained ; but it may, however, be proper to explain to those who have not seen the original Prospectus, that the present intention of the Committee, is to provide for the following objects, viz.

A LARGE ROOM OR HALL,

IN THE NATURE OF

AN EXCHANGE,

to be open at all hours of the day ; but some particular hour to be fixed as the general time for assembling : to be furnished with desks, or enclosed tables, affording similar accommodations to those in Lloyd's Coffee House ; and to be provided with all Newspapers and other publications likely to be generally consulted.

In this room it is intended to keep an account and registry of all public and private Parliamentary Business, in its various stages, and of all Appeals in the House of Lords. It will be furnished with the general and daily Cause Papers, Seal Papers, Lists of Petitions in Causes in the Courts of Equity, and in Lunacy and Bankruptcy; the Sittings Papers, Peremptory Papers, Special Papers, and Papers of New Trials in the Courts of Law; with a statement every evening of the business done by each Court during the day, and of that which will be proceeded in on the following day, as far as may be practicable; and early information will be procured of the arrangements made by the Judges of the different Courts, for the despatch of business, either in court or at their chambers, and of all other matters connected with the Profession, of which it is desirable Attorneys should be apprised; so that the Members will be able readily to ascertain what business is depending in all the different Courts, without the trouble and inconvenience of applying for information at the different offices, where alone it can at present be obtained.

A LIBRARY,

to contain a complete collection of Books in the Law, and in those branches of Literature which may be considered more particularly connected with it; such as private Acts, Journals, and other proceedings of Parliament, County and local Histories, Genealogical and other Antiquities, Topography, &c. &c.

AN OFFICE OF REGISTRY,

in which will be kept accounts of property intended for sale, or sought to be purchased; of money ready to be lent, or wanted to be borrowed on mortgage, or otherwise ; of applications for articked, managing, and other Clerks : in short, of every matter that may be deemed generally useful to the Profession.

A CLUB ROOM,

which may afford the Members an opportunity of procuring dinners and slighter refreshments.

A SUITE OF ROOMS

for private meetings of Commissioners of Bankrupt ; for meetings of Arbitrators and Creditors : and for all other meetings and objects in any way connected with the Profession ; besides the necessary apartments and offices for the Librarian, and other officers and servants.

FIRE-PROOF ROOMS.

It is proposed, that the basement story shall be fitted up as Fire-proof Rooms, with closets, shelves, drawers, and partitions ; to be let to members of the Profession, either for temporary or permanent purposes : that all such Rooms shall be secured by a principal outer door, of which the Librarian, or some other confidential person belonging to the Institution, shall have the key ; and that each renter shall have a private key of his own room or division, to which no other person shall have access.

The following ADVANTAGES are suggested as likely to result from this Institution :—

Every Attorney having occasion, almost daily, to resort to the principal Inns of Court and public Law Offices, for the purposes of business, will, by the proposed plan, be enabled to meet other Attorneys, with whom he may have business to transact; instead of being obliged, as at present, to seek them at their own offices, often at a great distance, and always at an uncertainty of meeting with them.

The utility of a Place of General Meeting will be obvious to those who can remember the time, when it was the practice of Attorneys in the city, and other parts of the town, distant from the Inns of Court, to frequent the Coffee-houses in that neighbourhood in the evenings, for the purposes of business.

An Attorney or Solicitor, who may have occasion to attend the Courts of the Lord Chancellor, or Vice-Chancellor, in Lincoln's Inn, or the Master of the Rolls, or the Sittings of the Court of King's Bench in Serjeants' Inn, or the Exchequer in Gray's Inn, or upon Judges' summonses, Masters' warrants, appointments before the Masters of the King's Bench or Exchequer, or the Prothonotaries of the Common Pleas, or upon consultations of Counsel, or other appointments in the neighbourhood, will be enabled to pass his time at the Institution, both usefully and agreeably, and without inconvenience or expense, until his attendance shall become actually necessary; instead of waiting, as at present, in Court, at the Judges', Masters', or Counsels' Chambers, or at a coffee-house.

By facilitating intercourse, it will promote what has long been felt to be most desirable—an uniformity of practice in the profession; and it will enable Members generally, to obtain information and assistance from others of greater experience, or who may in any particular matter, whether of a provincial or local nature, be better informed than themselves.

Country Subscribers also, who have occasion to come frequently to town, will find the Institution much more convenient for transacting their business than a Coffee-house ; and a general intercourse and acquaintance will be thus kept up between the whole body of the Profession, which will be found mutually beneficial.

The advantages of an easy reference to a good Library are so numerous and so obvious, that it will be sufficient merely to allude to this as an important feature of the Institution, and to observe, that the expense attending the purchase of those books only which are necessary for daily reference is considerable, while that of a complete library, particularly if it include County Histories, Antiquities, Parliamentary publications, and other works of a like nature, is within the reach of but few individuals.

The usual mode of advertizing in the newspapers for making known the objects intended to be provided for by the Registry is very ineffectual and expensive, and to those who have occasion to inquire after such objects, the necessity of consulting the scattered and irregular communications of the different newspapers is extremely tedious and irksome ; whilst the information required, instead of being concentrated as it will be by the proposed plan, and derived from persons of whom some previous knowledge may be obtained, is now to be sought at places widely distant, and often from entire strangers.

With regard to the Fire Proof-rooms, the Club-room, and the rooms for Meetings of Creditors, &c., the advantages and convenience are self-evident, and need no observation.

It is also hoped that this Institution may afford the means of assisting Articled Clerks by lectures on the different branches of the Law.

Upon the whole, it may be anticipated, that the Profession at large will concur in the opinion unanimously expressed by the Committee in their report, namely, "That the proposed Institution will be highly useful and advantageous, by facilitating and expediting the transaction of business, extending the means of information and improvement, promoting liberality of practice, and increasing the respectability of the profession ;" and that with such objects in view, "it ought to be established on the most liberal scale."

A list of the present Subscribers is subjoined, and applications for shares may be made to any Member of the COMMITTEE of MANAGEMENT, or to the Secretary, Mr. R. Maugham, 17, Great James-street, Bedford-row.

1. The first part of the book is devoted to a general introduction to the subject of the history of the United States. It contains a brief account of the early history of the country, from the first settlements to the present time. It also contains a description of the physical features of the country, and a list of the principal cities and ports. The second part of the book is devoted to a detailed account of the history of the United States, from the first settlement to the present time. It contains a description of the political system, and a list of the principal events of the history of the country. The third part of the book is devoted to a description of the present state of the United States, and a list of the principal cities and ports. The fourth part of the book is devoted to a description of the future of the United States, and a list of the principal cities and ports.
